WHAT IS HALAL?

The word 'halal' literally means permissible- and in translation it is usually used as lawful.

Halal is an Arabic word meaning lawful or permitted. In reference to food, it is the dietary standard, as prescribed in the Qur'an. The opposite of halal is haram, which means unlawful or prohibited.

Halal and haram are universal terms that apply to all facets of life. These terms are commonly used in relation to food products, meat products, cosmetics, personal care products, pharmaceuticals, food ingredients, and food contact materials.

While many things are clearly halal or haram, there are some things which are not clear. Further information is needed to categorize them as halal or haram. Such items are often referred to as mashbooh, which means doubtful or questionable.

In general every food is considered halal in Islam unless it is specially prohibited by the Qur'an or the Hadith. By official definition, halal foods are those that are;

- Free from any component that Muslims are prohibited from consuming according to Islamic law.
- Processed, made, produced, manufactured and/or stored using utensils, equipment and/or machinery that have been cleansed according to Islamic law (Shariah). In the meat and poultry food industry animals such as cows, veal, lamb, sheep, goats, turkeys, chickens, ducks, game birds, bison, venison, etc, are considered halal, but they must be prepared according to Islamic laws in order for their meat to be suitable for consumption.

WHY DO YOU NEED HALAL CERTIFICATION?

Halal certification is a process which ensures the features and quality of the products according to the rules established by the Islamic Law that allow the use of the mark Halal.

With the global halal food trade estimated at USD 2.3 trillion annually, The Halal market provides a profitable opportunity for Australian companies.

Halal Certification by a recognised and registered certifying body is required for a company's product to be permitted for export to the growing global Halal Market.

With the modern products processing methods, Muslims in and outside Australia find it challenging to know how their food was produced. Halal certification helps the local Australian Muslim Community decide which products to buy with confidence. As such the ANIC Halal Authority has established the first Halal Research Centre in Australia to keep up to date with the latest emerging products and methods of production.

WHAT PRODUCTS NEED HALAL CERTIFICATION?

In general all consumptions must be Halal in order for Muslims to consume.
